

OCCRL Twitter Chat Series

#BlackGirlExcellence in K-12, Community College, and University settings.

When: Thursday, April 28, 2016
12pm-1pm CST

Where: Twitter!

Join moderators Venus, Terah, Asia, and Eboni as they engage in the ongoing conversation on the education of Black Girls within K-12, community college and university settings. During this conversation, they will discuss how Black girls are supported or thwarted as intellectuals throughout the educational pipeline.

Use #BlackGirlExcellence to participate

Follow us on Twitter: @OCCRL

Venus Evans-Winters

Associate Professor of Education,
Department of Educational Administration and Foundations, Illinois State University

Follow @DrVEvansWinters

Terah Venzant Chambers

Associate Professor, K-12
Educational Administration,
Michigan State University

Follow @DrTerah

Asia Fuller Hamilton

Doctoral Candidate,
University of Illinois,
Urbana-Champaign

Follow @edleadr

Eboni Zamani-Gallaher

Director, Office for Community College
Research and Leadership (OCCRL),
University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign

Follow @emzgallaher