Blog: Minnesota develops automatic reporting process to further refine reverse transfer degree eligibility

"An automated process to identify the most eligible students for a reverse transfer Associate in Arts degree is one of Minnesota's greatest successes since joining the Credit When It's Due project.

As Minnesota embarked on the process of developing and implementing a state-wide reverse transfer process, it was clear early on that one major challenge would be determining which students could satisfy the requirements for an Associate in Arts degree through reverse transfer.
